

CPAS Announces New Appointment

Toronto, ON – July 1, 2009 – Harley Broder, EVP and Chief Operating Officer of CPAS Systems Inc. has announced that Andrew Zdunich has been appointed to the role of Vice-President, Professional Services Group.

Andrew retired in 2006 from the Canadian Armed Forces after 20 years service. His military career included key command and staff responsibilities both domestically and abroad including Bosnia, Central Africa, and Afghanistan. Upon entering the Private Sector, he provided consulting services in the field of interagency collaboration for public safety and homeland security.

Andrew joined CPAS in 2009 following a term as a Director for a privately held software application development company where he oversaw Business Continuity solutions for international clients as well as the development, deployment and training on an Emergency Management software application he co-designed. His proven track record of leadership, team-building and change management combined with extensive international experience in Strategic Analysis and Organizational Development led to his selection in June 2009 to oversee CPAS' Professional Services Group.

Andrew holds a Masters Degree in War Studies from the Royal Military College of Canada, is fluent in English and French, and active in the Canadian Army Reserve, where he currently serves as a Lieutenant-Colonel and commands The Queen's York Rangers Reconnaissance Regiment, based in Toronto.
